The Colorado Health Foundation™

Privacy Policy

The Colorado Health Foundation takes your privacy seriously. Please read the following to learn more about our privacy policy.

What This Privacy Policy Covers

This policy covers how the Colorado Health Foundation treats personal information that the Colorado Health Foundation collects and receives from individuals. Personal information is information about you that is personally identifiable like your name, address, email address, or phone number, and that is not otherwise publicly available.

This policy does not apply to the practices of companies or organizations that the Colorado Health Foundation does not own or control, or to people that the Colorado Health Foundation does not employ or manage.

Information Collection and Use

The Colorado Health Foundation collects personal information when you register or use the Foundation's websites or register for an event with the Colorado Health Foundation, when you use the Colorado Health Foundation contact form or when you use the "join our mailing list" form.

When you register for certain events we may ask for information such as your name, email address, phone number, mailing address, zip code, occupation, title, and organizational affiliation.

The Colorado Health Foundation automatically receives and records information on our server logs from your browser, including your IP address, and the page(s) you request.

The Colorado Health Foundation uses information for the following general purposes: to fulfill your requests for products and services, improve our services, contact you, conduct research, and provide anonymous reporting for internal and external clients.

Information Sharing and Disclosure

The Colorado Health Foundation does not rent, sell, or share personal information about you with other people or nonaffiliated companies or organizations.

You can request that your information be deleted from our mailing list by contacting Show email.
