The Colorado Health Foundation™

Colorado's Policymaking Processes: Administrative Rulemaking

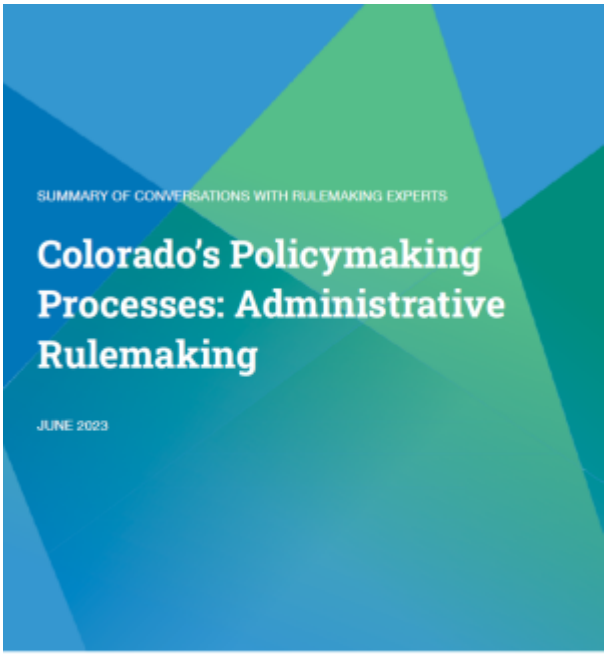

Summary of Conversations With Rulemaking Experts

By
Lauren Morales
Emily Rader
Alexis Weightman
Publication Date

June, 2023

Download

CO Policymaking Processes_Administrative Rulemaking_UPDATED_Nov2023

Administrative rulemaking is one of the most consequential – and complex – policymaking processes in Colorado. Whereas legislation often provides a broad outline for a particular policy, rulemaking is where the specific contours of that policy truly take shape. Robust collaboration and communication between rulemaking bodies and the individuals and communities most impacted by rules is essential.

The ideas and suggestions captured in this report present an opportunity for our state to assess the status quo of administrative rulemaking and consider changes that could make the process more equitable, to the benefit of all Coloradans.

Related

Report

Feb 22, 2023

Colorado’s Policymaking Processes: State Legislatu...

READ MORE

Sep 01, 2019

Developing a Strong Philanthropic Policy Advocacy ...

READ MORE