Hate Should Not Define Our Daily Lives

After a weekend of unspeakable and heart-shattering violence in El Paso, Dayton and beyond – we stand with the individuals, families and communities impacted. We all deserve to live in safe communities that are not awash with fear, trauma and grief. We all deserve to live in a country where hate does not define our daily lives – where the actions we see and the words we hear do not perpetuate discrimination and violence.

No matter your personal or professional role in this harrowing public epidemic, please help us spread the word about resources for supporting those affected by violence and trauma.

- Emotional Support for Survivors, Moments That Survive, Everytown for Gun Safety
- Gun Violence Must Stop. Here's What We Can Do to Prevent More Deaths. Prevention Institute
- Talking with Kids About Fear and Violence, Mental Health America
- Trauma in the Wake of Tragedies, National Council for Behavioral Health
