In Solidarity With Immigrant Communities

The Colorado Health Foundation stands in solidarity with immigrant communities in Colorado and across the country as they endure the disruption and trauma inflicted by immigration raids and detainments.

As an organization committed to the power of advocacy, we recognize that peaceful protest is a cornerstone of our democracy. It's also a vital tool for achieving health equity and elevating the voices of communities that have historically been excluded from decision-making.

Our immigrant neighbors are an integral part of Colorado's vibrant fabric. We stand with them, and with the nonprofit organizations working tirelessly to provide services, support and resources. In this moment, we must remain vigilant in ensuring that no one's voice is silenced.
