Foundation Signs Joint Statement on Immigrant and Refugee Rights

As a philanthropic organization focused on bringing health in reach for all Coloradans, it is our responsibility to speak out on issues that directly impact the health of those most in need.

To this end, the Foundation, alongside more than 200 philanthropies across the country, has signed a joint statement in support of immigrant rights. The issues, communities and core values that our collective foundations have sought to advance are in serious and imminent danger. With history and morality as our guide, we reject discriminatory policies that target individuals based on gender, race, ethnicity, religion, national origin, immigration status, sexual orientation, gender expression and other grounds. We stand committed to the inherent value and dignity of every person at home and abroad. We stand together for the American Dream.

Together, we support policies that protect our national security, strengthen our economy and uphold core American values. Policies that recognize our global interdependence, that honor our tradition of welcoming those seeking refuge and a better life, and that keep families together will make our communities stronger, safer and more prosperous.

We believe that health is a basic human right and that everyone deserves the opportunity to have what they need to be healthy. Read the joint statement and our recent blog post, Families Belong Together.

Colorado State Board of Education Revises Health and Physical Education Standards

Last month, the Colorado State Board of Education approved proposed revisions to its P-12 Colorado Academic Standards in the areas of Comprehensive Health and Physical Education. These standards outline clear goals for student learning by the end of each grade level. The changes were part of a vigorous process to review the state's academic standards for the first time since their full adoption in 2010. Revisions to the Comprehensive Health and Physical Education Standards include strengthening social and emotional supports available to students and the inclusion of language for education around the use of marijuana and prescription drugs.

The Foundation applauds the Colorado State Board of Education for their public review process and approval of these new standards. We are grateful that these health standards are recognized as a core component of the education required by Colorado students and are updated as needed over time. These improved standards will ultimately help students better understand and navigate the current health challenges impacting youth in Colorado.
