HAD LESS POWER
OR PRIVILEGE.

WE DO

THE COMMUNITY
AND THOSE WE

Poll Methodology

- 1803 Colorado adult residents
- August 15 – September 19, 2018
- Conducted in English and Spanish
- Weighted to 2016 Colorado state-based estimates from the U.S. Census Bureau’s ACS.
- The margin of sampling error including the design effect for the full sample is plus or minus 3 percentage points.
- KFF is a charter member of the Transparency Initiative of the American Association for Public Opinion Research.
Key Findings

- Nearly three in ten Coloradans are worried that they might lose their home because they cannot afford their monthly housing costs.

- Similar to KFF national polling, health care and specifically – the affordability of health care is among the top issues for Coloradans. Half of Coloradans say it has gotten harder for people like them to afford health care.

- There are still signs of inequality with individuals from certain demographic groups reporting poorer health status and a lower quality of life in the state.
